Good Evening Everyone!

Since this weekend is lite in the way of close Midrealm events, the Manchester group was wondering if there would be any of us available to assist in learning of new things this Saturday. They specifically looking for: heavy fighting instruction, garb construction (most are 14th century or later), armor construction, A&S projects... well just about anything we can help with as they are still in the early stages as a SCA group. Aengus and I are planning on going and wanted to know who else would like to go and what they would like to assist with.

Thank you for your time and effort.
We are such a giving barony.

Thank you to all who responded to this call. I understand we all are SUPER busy people and this is one of the few free weekends we have. I am making the decision to postpone our trip down to Manchester this week-end. The group and I are going to see if there is another weekend we can get together in which we would give people more then 5 days notice. I will let you all know when that will be soon.

Again thank you for your time for the few of you who could of made the trip to Manchester. Hopefully we can get a few more people with more notice next time.

In service to the BEST barony,

Hypathia
