

Greetings unto the great populace of the Midrealm from Baroness Kristiana of Arden, Kingdom Minister of the Arts and Sciences,

The end of the year is approaching with the holidays right around the corner. It's time to think about the Regional Arts and Sciences Faires and your entries. Some regions already have their dates secured; so please watch the KMOAS website and Middle Kingdom calendar for dates and locations. Just as a reminder, if you are unable to attend your region's faire; you can send it with someone who is attending or look to attend another region's faire. Here are the dates so far for the regional faires:

Midlands: February 20, 2010 – Baile na Scolairi (Bloomington/Normal, IL)

Pentamere:

North Oaken:

South Oaken:

Constellation:

Besides the regional faires, there are plenty of arts and science themed events on the kingdom calendar. There are many dance, scribal, cooking and clothing themed events/competitions throughout the kingdom to enjoy and participate. I encourage everyone to attend and learn something new. I would also encourage local group officers to think about having some A&S activities at your meetings. It's a great way to sharing with one another the different aspects of the SCA.

Please look at the KMOAS website for reporting dates to regional officers. We will be rolling out a revised reporting form for local officers soon.

I would like to thank The Honorable Lady Mihri Deniz-Yetim, for her continued work on updating the Kingdom Arts and Sciences website for me. She has done an excellent job with getting things updated when I need them.

Learn, Make and Teach

Kristiana