

October Pale Letter.

Greetings unto the great populace of the Midrealm from Baroness Kristiana of Arden, Kingdom Minister of the Arts and Sciences,

The weather is changing from the warmth of summer to the cooler temperatures signally that autumn is approaching. With the seasons changing, so is the office of the Arts and Sciences. I would like to announce my choice for the position of my Drop Dead Deputy. I had some great candidates apply and I thank them for their interest and passion for the Kingdom Minister of Arts and Sciences. I have decided to name Master Llewellyn ap Teirnon as my new deputy under the Arts and Sciences. I know that he will be a great asset to the office and to the Kingdom. Please seek him out at events to introduce yourself.

The Kingdom Arts and Sciences website has also been changing. If you have a moment look at the new information. I am still trying to get updated officer information and reporting forms added. We hope to have links to different A&S activities and events for the populace to know more about.

The Midrealm is celebrating its 40th Anniversary as a Kingdom and will be celebrating it along with the Coronation of King Dag and Queen Anne Marie. I highly encourage everyone to attend. It will be a great event full of history, fun, pageantry and wonderful A&S displays to look at and people to meet.

It's never too early to think about the A&S Faires next year! My hope is to have many entries from the kingdom. The time to start thinking about entering and working on projects is now!

If you have any questions or just want to share ideas, feel free to reach out to me.
